EVA MULDER

Erasmus School of Economics — Office E2-41
Burgemeester Oudlaan 50 — (+316)37314153
3062 PA Rotterdam, the Netherlands — mulder@ese.eur.nl

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Banking, Corporate Finance, Monetary Policy, Financial History

EDUCATION

PhD in Finance — 2021 — Present
Erasmus University Rotterdam & Tinbergen Institute
Advisors: Peter Koudijs & Matthijs Korevaar

ECB Summer Research Graduate Programme in honour of Ivan Jaccard — 2026
Directorate General Research, Financial Research Division

Visiting Student Researcher — 2025 — 2026
NYU Stern School of Business

MSc Economics — 2018 — 2020
University of Groningen

BSc Economics & Business Economics — 2014 — 2018
University of Groningen
Concordia University, Montreal (Exchange Semester)

BA History — 2015 — 2018
University of Groningen

PAST POSITIONS

Research Assistant, Ghent University — Ghent
Faculty of Economics and Business Administration, section Corporate Finance — 2020 — 2021

Research Analyst & Trainee, European Central Bank — Frankfurt
Directorate General Research, Financial Research Division — 2019 — 2020

WORKING PAPERS

Deposits at War: How Safe Asset Competition Affects Banks

How do alternatives to commercial bank retail deposits affect banks? Exploiting an exogenous shock to local deposit competition, this paper presents new causal evidence on commercial banks' deposit pricing, funding and lending decisions. Depositors in the Netherlands could historically open an account at the Dutch central bank. These accounts sat idle until the outbreak of World War I, which temporarily drove deposit balances at the central bank to unprecedented levels. More exposed banks, with a larger share of branches in central bank cities, raised their short-term deposit rates further and were more likely to invert their deposit term structure. Despite the return of deposits once the crisis subsided, more exposed banks relied less on deposits in their funding mix and expanded their lending less in the following years. The findings suggest that short-lived deposit competition during a crisis can have persistent consequences for bank funding and lending.

Holding Bankers Liable: Personal Guarantees and Risk-Taking in Security Underwriting

with Peter Koudijs

Does additional liability for bank executives improve risk management? We address this question using uniquely detailed data on the underwriting activities of one of the largest Dutch banks in the early 20th century. Its executives faced additional liability as they partially guaranteed their banks' security underwriting. If the issuance was successful, they received the underwriting fee; if it failed, they had to personally purchase securities at a loss. Exploiting exogenous discontinuities in the size of these guarantees, we find that issuance quality was higher for bigger guarantees. Investor subscription rates were higher and issuing firms had stronger balance sheets. Results indicate that additional liability directly tied to executives' decisions can help reduce bank risk-taking.

WORKS IN PROGRESS

The Dawn of Deposit Banking in the Netherlands with Remo Oostdam

Central Bank Retail Deposits in the Past with Pamfili Antipa, Anna Grodecka-Messi, Marius Hafke, Clemens Jobst, Enrique Jorge-Sotelo, Daniel Kaufmann, Kilian Rieder, Stefano Ugolini

CONFERENCES & SEMINARS

2026 (scheduled) Federal Reserve Financial and Monetary History Conference, CeMoF Fifth PhD Workshop in Money and Finance, ECB DG/R Internal Seminar, 4th Durham Job Market Paper in Finance Conference, ESSFM Gerzensee, EFA Ghent 2026, Fourth Women in Central Banking Workshop

2025 ERIM Finance PhD Seminar, IBEFA WEAI Summer Meeting, CEPR International Macro-History Online Seminar Series

2024 Groningen Growth and Development Centre Conference, ERIM Finance PhD Seminar, ESE PhD Seminar, Groningen Summer School 'Financial, Economic and Business History', NBER Doctoral Workshop 'Economics of Executive Compensation', Finance & History Workshop 200 Years Brussels Stock Exchange, Sveriges Riksbank Conference 'Monetary and Financial History: Lessons for the 21st Century'

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Lecturer, Erasmus University Rotterdam 2025

Four Centuries of Finance (graduate course)

Teaching Assistant, University of Groningen 2016 — 2019

Macroeconomics I, Microeconomics I, Research Paper, Globalization I: Economic and Social History

OTHER EXPERIENCE

Secretary, Studygroup ECB 2023 — 2024

Expert advisory group for the Dutch Parliament on the European Central Bank's policy

Student Research Assistant, University of Groningen 2018 — 2019

AWARDS

Travel Grants Erasmus Trustfonds (2025), ERIM Support Program (2024); Groningen University Fund (2018)

LANGUAGES AND SOFTWARE SKILLS

- Languages: Dutch (native), English (fluent), German (intermediate)
- Software: STATA, R, LaTeX, Python

REFERENCES

Peter Koudijs	Matthijs Korevaar	Glenn Schepens
NYU Stern	Erasmus School of Economics	European Central Bank
pk3079@stern.nyu.edu	korevaar@ese.eur.nl	glenn.schepens@ecb.europa.eu